Literary Libs Instructions

Get your own unique (and hilarious!) take on a work of classic literature with LitLibs!

**IMPORTANT: DO NOT LOOK AT PAGE 2 UNTIL YOU'VE FOLLOWED ALL INSTRUCTIONS
(it ruins the fun!)****

Two ways to play:

As an Individual

- 1) Do NOT look at page 2 before you've completed the following steps!
- 2) Fill in the blanks on page 1 with the types of words provided
- 3) Copy the words into the corresponding blanks on page 2
- 4) Read and enjoy!

As a Group

- 1) Choose 1 person to be the scribe for the group. The scribe may look at page 2 but should not give any hints about what the story is.
- 2) The scribe asks each of the members of the group to provide the type of word for each blank on page 2 and writes it in the blanks. Group members can provide words by taking turns in an orderly manner or popcorn-style if desired.
- 3) Read aloud and enjoy!

“Romeo and Juliet” By William Shakespeare & 1 (Participant Name)

But soft! What light through yonder 2 (noun) breaks?

It is the East, and 3 (Female Name) is the sun!

Arise, fair sun, and 4 (verb) the envious moon,

Who is 5 (adverb) sick and pale with grief

That thou her maid art far more 6 (adjective) than she.

Be not her 7 (noun), since she is envious.

Her vestal 8 (article of clothing) is but sick and green,

And none but fools do wear it. 9 (verb) it off.

It is my 10 (noun); O, it is my love!

O that she knew she were!

She speaks, yet she says nothing. What of that?

Her eye 11 (present tense verb); I will answer it.

I am too 12 (adjective); 'tis not to me she speaks.

13 (number) of the fairest stars in all the heaven,

Having some 14 (noun), do entreat her eyes

To twinkle in their 15 (plural noun) till they return.

What if her eyes 16 (past tense verb) there, they in her head?

The brightness of her 17 (noun) would shame those stars

As daylight doth a lamp; her eyes in heaven

Would through the airy region 18 (verb) so bright

That 19 (plural noun) would sing and think it were not night.

See how she 20 (present tense verb) her cheek upon her hand!

O that I were a 21 (noun) upon that hand,

That I might 22 (verb) that cheek!
